Presentation
Dr. James McBrayer reported on the Institutional Assessment process at UCF. He explained a change that instead of each college’s assessment going directly to the university committee, it first goes to a college committee for review; it is more effective and user-friendly. Last year Education and Engineering participated in the assessment process, this year the College of Arts and Sciences, and next year the College of Health and Public Affairs. He reminded the Senate that Institutional Assessment is an on-going process, which must be continually addressed each year. In response to a question about size of sample needed, he replied that 1/4 to 1/3 is acceptable unless the size of the graduate population is extremely small. A second question was asked: Can we do anything with the result of the assessment? Dr. McBrayer replied that if we can’t, it’s not a valid assessment, and that the results should enable better planning.

Dr. McBrayer recommended that the Senators attend the Higher Education Assessment Forum and to encourage their department faculty to get involved with the process.

The meeting adjourned at 4:45 p.m.
